30 DAYS OF THANKSGIVING

I belong to a small group Bible Study that now meets on Zoom. Two weeks ago I suggested that we write down one thing every day that we are thankful for and put it in the jar. One friend has an ornate jar, one a cactus jar and I have a plain glass bottle. One friend has a 6 year old granddaughter that lives in walking distance and visits frequently. This is the story she shared with me.

6 year old Ariel asked me what the jar was for. When I explained that it was to write a joy down for each day and that today mine would be spending time with her, she then asked, "So if you have a bad day, do you throw one joy away?" (LOL!) I replied, "No. I read the other joys & then I am happy." She proceeded to take a piece of paper (after all, she has never been shy!) & told me what to write: "Joy--having time with my grandma makes me smile.

I'm so excited when I'm with my grandma." That could be my joy every day!

A time when you were hurt, scared, or sad, and God helped you.

A time when God answered a prayer.

A family member.

Something about your church.

Something you're excited about in the future.

A family activity you enjoy, or a trip you've taken.

A time when someone forgave you.
